WHY THIS QUALIFICATION

New traders lose money to poor risk control, not poor analysis.

This qualification builds that discipline first: the map of the market, the mechanics of how it works, and a risk-aware process for placing an order.

01

Practitioner-designed

Authored by Head Educator Neil Crammond, a practising markets trader with 40+ years across LIFFE, CBOT and CME.

02

Built for true beginners

No prior knowledge, formal entry requirement or trading account needed.

03

Standardised and quality-assured

Delivered under OCN London with a defined credit value, GLH/TQT and external quality assurance.

04

Applied, not just informational

Beyond MCQ checks, learners construct and justify an order and risk plan, marked by the Head Educator.

WHO IT IS FOR

Built for people starting from zero.

An entry-level introduction for learners with no prior knowledge of financial markets who want to understand how global markets operate, what instruments are traded, and how trading is conducted in practice.

Recent school leavers

A first step into how markets work.

Graduates

Practical market foundations to build on.

Adult learners in India

Understand markets before you participate.

Entry requirements

There are no formal entry requirements.

- Basic literacy and numeracy
- Able to engage with content delivered in English
- No prior knowledge of financial markets needed

WHAT YOU WILL BE ABLE TO DO

Three decisions this qualification builds.

01

Read a market

Understand how global markets are structured, which asset classes trade in them, who takes part, and how to read a basic quote.

UNITS 1 AND 2

02

Size a trade

Apply risk per trade, position sizing and stop-loss concepts to keep risk under control.

UNIT 3

03

Place an order with discipline

Choose the right order type and follow a disciplined, risk-aware process, avoiding common beginner mistakes.

UNIT 3
